SOUTH-CAROLINA AND COUNTRY THE GAZETTE; JOURNAL.

Containing the freſheſt Advices, both Foreign and Domeſtic.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1769.

From the MIDDLESEX JOURNAL, of A[illegible]

To the Publiſher of the Middleſex [illegible]

SIR,

By inſerting the following Letter, you will much oblige your conſtant Reader.

To his G---- the D---- of G----

My LORD,

THOUGH unknown to you, my Con[cern] for your Welfare, makes me deſirous of ſhewing you your real Situation in the Capacity you now ſtand in, as firſt L--d of the T------y, that you may ſee what you have to depend on, and which is the only Way of extricating yourſelf out of that Labyrinth of Difficulties, in which you are now involved; that if Misfortunes ſhould fall heavy on you, it will be your own Fault, as you have had timely Caution to avoid them.

In examining your Conduct as a Miniſter, I ſhall addreſs myſelf to you in all Plainneſs of Speech; ſpeak of you as you are: I ſhall nothing extenuate, nor ſet down aught in Malice.

It is notorious that ever ſince you came into the Adminiſtration, you have been remarkable for a Man of looſe Morals in private Life, and in your Office imperious and overbearing. You have not regarded the Cry of the Americans now, notwithſtanding you were an Oppoſer of the Stamp-Act when that paſſed; you have endeavoured to enforce the Acts in being upon them; you have ſent over Troops to demand an implicit Obedience to the Dictates of a firſt Miniſter, in direct Oppoſition to the Principles of the Conſtitution, and in Violation of the [illegible] originally granted them; and now ſince you find that [illegible] them to a Compliance, you are willing to [illegible] that they ſhall be repealed at the Sitting of the P[illegible]. Thus ſeven! is it poſſible that the legiſlative Power of the [illegible] the Bulwark of the Liberties of the People, ſhould be [illegible] of a Miniſter? But alas (ſo deſperately wicked are [illegible]) what will not Penſions and Bribes effect? For the ſake of preſent pecuniary Gratification, they will ſell their Country and themſelves; they will tamely give up thoſe Liberties which our Anceſtors bought with their Blood; they will invite us all in to Bondage, rather than fail in one Point of their Duty to you. While they baſk under the Sunſhine of your Favour, they are forging Chains which themſelves muſt one Day wear; and when they have done their utmoſt, when they have eſtabliſhed the Power of a Miniſter beyond the Poſſibility of Controul, you may diſcard them as uſeleſs and unprofitable. But to return.

Do you, my Lord, think it poſſible to give Retribution to your Country for the Loſs of the American Trade? Not all your Fortune, your Family Connections, and all the Power you can make, not even the laying down your Life, will ever atone for that one Act of Guilt. In driving to ſubmit to the Power of Arbitrary Sway, and ſhewing your Grace ſhould think fit, but of the Mercifulneſs of your Diſpoſition, repeal them, and by what Means reſtore that Harmony between Great-Britain and her Colonies (which but for you had never been diſturbed) yet in the Courſe of a few Years, thoſe Manufactures will arrive at Perfection, and then, when they have almoſt every Thing among themſelves, what is to become of Old England? How muſt the Government be ſupported? In caſe of a future War, where is the Money to be found? The Debt of the Nation is already ſo enormous, that though every Neceſſary of Life is taxed to ſuch a Degree, it will barely produce a Sufficiency to anſwer the Intereſt of the preſent Debt, together with diſcharging the Penſions (for ſuch a Number of which, we may thank your Grace) ſo that the poor People can ſcarcely live.

Is it reaſonable then, do you think, that the People who ſupport your Grace, to whom you are no more than a Servant, to whom you actually receive Wages, ſhould periſh, while you revel in Riot and Debauchery, and only becauſe you think them the Scum of the Earth? No, my Lord, never expect it; if you but imagined it, you are indeed moſt miſerably miſtaken; but then you waver ſo in your Sentiments, and are changeable as the Wind; and being in Place under the Influence of the Lord [illegible], forgetting every Tye of Friendſhip and Gratitude, you give up the Man whom you once honoured with the Title of Friend, becauſe he was hated by a certain Thane, for expoſing his Errors, and ſetting his Character before the Public in its proper Colours; you were not content with withdrawing your Protection from him, but muſt perſecute him with unrelenting Malice. But there you acted without Caution; for ſeeking to cruſh a ſingle Individual, you violated the Right of a whole Nation, and from a private Affair, you have made it the Concern of the whole Body of the People.

Surely, my Lord, you ſlept while this was done, elſe you could not be ſo ſhamefully ignorant of the Sentiments of the People, as to ſuppoſe they would ſit down tamely, and let ſuch an Inſult paſs unnoticed. Had you only excluded Mr. Wilkes from the H----e of C-----ns, and let the Middleſex Freeholders have re-choſen him, they would not have repined, ſo long as they had the Shadow of a Choice; but to put in one ſo arbitrarily, one who before was poſſeſſed of a Seat, and who vacated it only to defy in the Face of the Nation, is ſuch a Blot to your Grace's Adminiſtration, that even the Tyranny of a Walpole never could come up to. You have now ſhewn openly and clearly your Intention of enſlaving a free People, if in your Power; and if you do not effect it, it is not from Want of Inclination, but Ability.

Now, I would aſk your G---e, how you will ſcreen yourſelf from the Revenge of a People ſo inhumanly injured; it is not to be ſuppoſed that you can think your being deſcended from a ſpurious Branch of the Blood Royal, will indemnify you, nor can you imagine that L--d B--e will prove a Barrier, ſtrong enough againſt the Cries of a whole Nation: In what Manner then can you ſhield yourſelf? Might I adviſe how you might make ſome little Reparation for the many Ills you have done; firſt, undo all you have done, and then retire to your Country Seat, and pray to GOD to pardon the Multitude of Sins you have committed; and as you now have entered into chaſte Connections, be ſure to endeavour, that the Remainder of your Life may be as conſpicuous for Holineſs and Goodneſs, as it has been hitherto for Lewdneſs and Infamy.

JAMES JOHNSTON, D. C. C. & P.

Clerk's Office, October 27, 1769.

LONDON, August 9.

IT is ſaid, that an Officer in the Law has been much reproved for his late conduct in the H---e of C------s, and for refuſing a brief againſt a certain popular Gentleman, in an affair which has ſince been determined in the Court of K---'s B---h, though his refuſal was upon a principle of honour, conſiſtent with which no man could have taken it. It is reported that he will very ſhortly reſign, having declared that no emolument ſhall induce him to act contrary to his conſcience.

Never was there known a ſcene of greater calamity in any one family at one time, than what is now diſcloſed in that of the Duke of Beaufort. His Grace is confined to his bed by a violent and moſt painful ſtrain in his leg; his ſiſter lady Harriot Wynn, whom he loved moſt affectionately and tenderly, is juſt buried; one of his ſon's is juſt dead, his conſort the Dutcheſs, is alſo confined to her bed, with one of her legs broken in two different places; and news is juſt this moment brought from Jamaica, that her Grace's brother, the honourable Mr. Boſcawen, has had the misfortune to be drowned in that iſland.

It is reported Sir John Lindſay will be promoted to the poſt of Rear Admiral, in conſequence of the vacancy by the death of Admiral Townſend, which will introduce a promotion of Flag Officers.

August 11. Their Graces the Duke and Dutcheſs of Beaufort, who were lately overturned in their carriage, and greatly hurt, going to Badminton, their country ſeat, are both in a fair way of recovery.

Yeſterday morning his Excellency Admiral Pye, arrived in town from Portſmouth.

A letter from Dublin mentions, that on the 11th inſtant, his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, attended by the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, Merchants, &c. went in grand proceſſion and laid the foundation ſtone of the new Royal Exchange on Corke Hill.

August 14. At a meeting of the Electors of Weſtminſter held on Friday at the Standard Tavern in Leiceſter-fields, Robert Jones, Eſq; in the chair, it was reſolved, that an humble Petition be preſented to his Majeſty relative to the Rights of Election for Repreſentatives in Parliament; and a meeting is to be held in Weſtminſter-hall the 29th inſt. to conſider of ſuch Petition.

Friday there was a General Meeting of the Proprietors of Eaſt India Stock at their houſe in Leadenhall-ſtreet, agreeable to a printed notice for that purpoſe. About 12 o'clock Sir George Colebrooke informed the Court, that the Directors had received at ten o'clock on Thurſday night, a letter from Lord Weymouth one of his Majeſty's principal Secretaries of State; and as the intended to lay the ſubſtance of it before the Proprietors (accord ing to the deſire of his Lordſhip) begged for an half hour's indulgence, till an extract ſhould be made out. This, though it was not the buſineſs they were ſummoned on, he hoped would be firſt entered on; it was accordingly granted; and at half paſt [illegible] letter, which is in ſub-

" had been taken into conſideration by his Majeſty's Servants, and that " it was their opinion that in ſome reſpects it was illegal; that in " anſwer he (Lord Weymouth) had received from the Directors, " reſpecting the appointment of a naval officer, with full power to " adjuſt all maritime affairs in India, he was concerned to find that " they had not totally acceded to it, and therefore begged of the " Directors that they would reconſider of the Commiſſion in general, " and lay the laſt article in particular, that of giving unlimited " powers to a naval Officer, to the Proprietary at large."

The reading of this letter gave riſe to a long train of Correſpondence being opened between Government and the Direction, concerning the laſt article, which took up a great deal of time.

The Directors ſaid in excuſe for their not complying literally with the requiſition of the Miniſtry, that though they were willing to allow a naval officer a certain degree of power, in conjunction with the Governor and Council of Bengal, yet they were cautious in acquieſcing to the requeſt at large, leſt they might give up too much into the hands of any one perſon; and that in reſpect to the legality of the commiſſion, they had got the opinion of Mr. York, who was clear it was in every reſpect ſo.

Many obſervations were made by the Proprietors on this topic; but finding they were likely to extend to too great a length, and that they required, previous to a determination, more time both to the inſide and outſide the bar, the further conſideration of this object was, by general agreement, deferred till to-morrow; in the mean time the Directors were deſired to ſelect and produce ſuch letters, papers, or paſſages in them, as might give proper light into this intereſting concern; and the buſineſs of the day, for which the Court was called, went on.

The letter ſigned by the nine Proprietors was firſt read, and contained in ſubſtance a requeſt of the merchants who had ſuffered by the calamities of the war in 1763, that they ſhould be reimburſed their loſſes according to a ſtipulation for that purpoſe, between the Government of Bengal and Meir Jaffier.

Sir G. Colebrooke read a reſolution of the Directors, which they had agreed to in conſequence of this letter, which was, "That as the accounts reſpecting this affair were not yet made out; and that ſome opinions in the law were neceſſary to be previouſly taken, the ſufferers muſt wait for ſome time, till theſe matters ſhould be adjuſted."

Mr. Leoſtoffe opened the whole affair, in a very long, but clear ſpeech; wherein he ſhewed, there was an abſolute agreement on the part of Meir Jaffier, to defray all the expences of the merchants incurred by the incidents of war; that theſe expences had been long ſince laid before the Council, but to no purpoſe; he pointed out, very accurately, the ſums of money that had been from time to time received, and their diſburſements, particularly to the Military and Navy, and concluded by obſerving, how hard it was, that a corporation of merchants, ſuch as was the Eaſt-India company, ſhould be ſo backward in complying with the legal demands of perſons in the ſame line of buſineſs.

Governor Johnſtone ſeconded Mr. Leoſtoffe, as did the two Mr. Vanſittarts, who all three explained the nature of this demand to be legal, and the withholding the payment of it any longer to be incompatible with juſtice.

Mr. Director Vanſittart particularly applied to ſome letters of Lord Clive's, which he read to the Court; wherein his Lordſhip ſeveral times talks of the reſtitution money as an object that ſhould be inſtantly complied with. He concluded by ſaying,

"Gentlemen, I have hitherto appealed to your juſtice in this caſe; let me now apply to your humanity, which I am ſure will want no further addreſs, when I tell you, 'tis the cauſe of ma ſufferers, many of whom have in conſequence of delay, felt the greateſt inconveniencies."

This affair received moſt of its oppoſition from behind the bar; and the debates continued till near ſeven o'clock in the evening; when a queſtion was put, and carried in the affirmative, that the following queſtion ſhould be determined by ballot on Wednesday next.

"That this Court do give orders for the payment of the reſtitution money in Bengal, as ſoon as the ſituation of the Company's Finances will admit of it."

The ſpeakers on this occaſion were, Sir G. Colebrooke, Bt. Mr. Preſcott, Mr. Director Vanſittart, Mr. Luſhington, Mr. Fitzgerald, Mr. Leoſtoffe, Mr. Vanſittart, Governor Johnſtone, and Mr. Cuſt.

In reading one of the letters from the Secretary of State, called for at the Court on Friday, mention was made of the very embroiled ſtate of the Company's affairs in the Gulph of Perſia. This was a matter wholly unknown before, even to the Directors who are not of the Committee of Secrecy; and a ſtop was put to the going on to read the reſt of the letter, for fear of giving ſuch an alarm as would affect the price of ſtock.

Saturday morning M. Mello de Caſtro, the Portugueſe Envoy Extraordinary, had a long conference with Lord Weymouth, on the ſubject of diſpatches brought on Friday from his Court, by the Expedition packet boat, Captain Robinſon.

An anecdote has been lately handed about, that S. V. Eſq; who for ſome time paſt has appeared as a very warm Patriot, has written a letter to the D. of G. offering the Sum of 5000l. for the reverſion of the office of Clerk of the Crown for Jamaica for his ſon, being a patent place, and the preſent poſſeſſor very much advanced in years, [illegible] favor of three, to [illegible] patent.

We hear that a certain patriotic Alderman is be[illegible] ſide by the m------y, who are trying every means in their po[illegible] to bring him over to their intereſt. They ſtop at nothing to induce him to incline to them, and even go ſo far as to tempt him with five golden pippins, beſides other honours and emoluments; ſo much are they in dread of an honeſt independant man: But it is hoped, and indeed there is not much reaſon to fear, that he will be proof againſt their baneful temptation, and take warning by the fatal example of our mother Eve; and not, for the ſake of a taſte of the gaudy fruit, be baniſhed the paradiſe of public favour.

By the laſt mails from Boſton, almoſt incredible accounts are come over, ſetting forth, in glaring colours, the behaviour of the military, and the evaſions practiſed to ſcreen them from public juſtice. But as Sir Francis Bernard has at laſt received his letters of recall, it is hoped, if he be the public American defaulter he is univerſally repreſented to be, that he will be rewarded as he deſerves.

It is ſaid that the freeholders of Yorkſhire will confine their petition of grievances to three points only: Firſt, The violation of elections rights: Secondly, The internal taxation of American ſubjects; and thirdly, To the adviſer or adviſers of theſe two [illegible] unconſtitutional, and deſpotic meaſures.

Conſiderable wagers have been laid, that before November next, petitions will be received at St. James's from two-thirds of the counties of England.

Either from an expectation of a change in the miniſtry, or the extraordinary matters that will be laid before parliament the next ſeſſion, it is thought there will be fewer members abſent than have been for many years.

It is imagined the firſt day of Michaelmas term will furniſh the public with matter of much converſation. Indeed, it is expected there will be more motions made in the courts that day, of ſingular nature, than at any other period whatever.

BRIDGE-TOWN, (Barbados) October 7.

ON Tueſday Morning the 3d Inſtant died at Pilgrim, in the 38th Year of her Age, the Lady of his Excellency William Spry, Eſq; and the next Evening her Remains were interred in St. Michael's Church: His Honour the Preſident, with the Members of the Council, the Honourable the Speaker of the Aſſembly, the Judges of different Precincts, his Majeſty's Attorney and Solicitor Generals bore the Corpſe; and ſeveral Members of the Aſſembly, the Officers of the Royal Regiment, the Life-Guard, and a numerous Concourſe of People attended on the Occaſion; when an affecting Diſcourſe was delivered by the Rev. Mr. Wharton, Rector of the ſaid Church, from the following Words: Philippians i. 21. "To Die is Gain." After which he ſummed up her Character to the following Effect.

"That ſhe was deſcended from an ancient and honourable Family, who, for the Love of their Country, Love of Liberty, and Loyalty to their Sovereign, ſtand illuſtrioufly diſtinguiſhed in the Britiſh Annals: That ſhe had received the Advantages of a liberal Education, which enlarged her Ideas beyond thoſe Limits of Inſtruction, within which the Generality of the Fair Sex are too frequently circumſcribed: That her Acquaintance with different Languages enabled her to judge of the Manners, Cuſtoms, and Rights of different Countries, the Principal of which in Europe ſhe had viſited in Perſon: That ſhe was a faithful Companion to the Friend of her Boſom into diſtant Regions, and accompanied him to this torrid, and, to her, fatal Climate; where, had Health permitted, ſhe would have exhibited a laudable Example of every chriſtian and ſocial Virtue: That her Politeneſs and courteous Behaviour attracted not only the Attention, but the Reſpect even of Strangers; and that her Charity, which was liberally diſpenſed, often, unknown to others, flowed bountifully through his Hands."

From the Time of her Deceaſe to the Interment of the Corpſe, the Flags at the different Forts were hoiſted half Staff high; and during the whole melancholy Solemnity, Minute Guns were fired from the Fort, which were continued by the Shipping in the Bay, &c. during a great Part of the Night, and every other Honour paid, which was due to her high Rank and Station.

Extract of a Letter from Dominica, dated September 25, 1769.

"The 22d Inſtant we had the greateſt Fall of Rain that has been known for many years paſt; the Damage done in different Parts of the Country is very conſiderable, and the Town of Roſeau has ſuffered beyond Deſcription. The River broke out a little above it, and in an Inſtant two Thirds of it was overflowed: Several Houſes, with Families in them, were carried away by the Torrent, and have never been heard of ſince: A Number of Negroes were drowned, and great Part of the Proviſions in the Stores and Cellars are deſtroyed. The River has entirely altered its Courſe, and now runs through the Town between Lovell and Morſon's Houſe and a Store belonging to Judah. One Third of our Lot was carried away, and the Bed of the new River is eight Feet below the Level of the Yard, and not more than ſix Yards from the Dwelling-houſe. Unleſs the Current can be turned into its former Channel, I am apprehenſive it will be the moſt prudent Thing we can do to take down all our Buildings, as another ſuch Flood would ſweep the whole away, and it will be unſafe to remain there with the River ſo near us."

ANNAPOLIS, (in Maryland) September 28.

CAPTAIN Andrew Bryſon, of the ſhip Betſey, arrived at this place laſt week from Briſtol, which he left the 18th of July, as appears by the papers lodged in the Cuſtom-Houſe. Immediately on the arrival of the ſhip, we, with ſome other merchants in the city, made enquiry what goods were on board the ſaid ſhip, which was found to conſiſt only of an adventure of the Captain's, amounting to about 700l. ſterling, which goods being purchaſed, and the ſhip ſailed before the reſolutions for non-importation in this province could be heard of in England; it was our openion, that Captain Bryſon had a right to diſpoſe of his goods: A few days ago we purchaſed of him, part of the above mentioned goods, amounting to £. 217 : 10 : 1 ſterling coſt, amongſt which were goods to the amount of £. 133 of thoſe kinds enumerated in the general aſſociation entered into the 22d of June laſt, as goods not to be imported; and though they were ſhipped before theſe reſolutions could be known in England, yet, as the purchaſe is thought, by many gentlemen, to be repugnant to the general ſpirit of the aſſociation, and of the fifth article in particular, we, as ſoon as we knew the ſentiments of theſe gentlemen, determined and declared our reſolution, to deliver the ſaid enumerated goods immediately to be ſtored until the repeal of the revenue-acts, as we are clearly of opinion, that wherever the leaſt doubt ariſes, the interpretation ſhould be in favour of diſcouraging any perſon whatever, from importing or buying goods contrary to the true ſpirit of the aſſociation. We have therefore this day, of our own free will, delivered the above mentioned goods into the poſſeſſion of Meſſieurs Lancelot Jacques, Charles Wallace, Robert Couden, John Brice, Joſhua Johnſon, and Colin Campbell, who have ſtored the ſame for our uſe, and at our riſk, until they can be releaſed, agreeable to the full intent and meaning of the aſſociation.

SUPPLEMENT to the SOUTH-CAROLINA GAZETTE, and COUNTRY JOURNAL.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1769. No. 205. [Printed by CHARLES CROUCH, in Elliott-ſtreet.]

LONDON, AUGUST 16.

YESTERDAY Morning a Privy Council was held at Lord Weymouth's Office in Cleveland Row, ſaid to be on affairs of importance.

The Hon. Sir James Grey is ſoon expected in town, from his Embaſſy at the Court of Spain, he having obtained his Letters of Revocation, but no perſon is yet appointed to ſucceed him. It is remarked, that the Spaniſh Ambaſſador has not of late been ſo frequent at Court as uſual, which occaſions various ſpeculations.

Yeſterday there was a General Meeting of the Proprietors of Eaſt India Stock, at their Houſe in Leadenhall-ſtreet, as by adjournment, to take into further conſideration the Paragraph in Lord Weymouth's letter of the 10th inſtant, reſpecting the powers to be given to a naval Officer, as well as the reconſideration of the Commiſſion.

The Court opened about 12 o'clock, and the clerk, as uſual, read over the buſineſs of the laſt meeting; when Sir George Colebrooke informed the Court, that the Directors had received another letter from Lord Weymouth, dated yeſterday morning, which he propoſed being read. The Proprietors aſſenting to this, the letter was accordingly read, and contained in ſubſtance as follows:

'That Lord Weymouth had received an anſwer from the Directors to his laſt; by which he believes they partly miſunderſtood him; for as to inveſting a naval Officer with plenipotentiary powers at large, was never his idea; all that he wanted to eſtabliſh, being only ſuch a ſhare in the buſineſs of adminiſtration, as would be both for the good of the Company, and the honour of Adminiſtration. That as his firſt letter, with theirs (the Directors anſwer) were now both to be laid before the Proprietors at large, to prevent any future miſunderſtanding, he recommended only the diſcuſſion of the two following points;---firſt, the reconſideration of the commiſſion; and next, the degree of authority proper to be inveſted in a naval Officer. To the firſt of theſe, he ſaid, as it was a point wherein its legality was differed by the ſervants of the Crown, and the Counſel of the Company, he would not pretend to ſpeak on; but in regard to the ſecond, as Government, at the requeſt of the Company, in the eleventh article of the laſt Definitive Treaty of Peace with France, made conditions with ſeveral Princes in India, it highly reſpected their honour, that an officer of theirs ſhould be the principal agent in matters offenſive and defenſive.'

As ſoon as this letter was read, Sir George Colebrooke ſpoke to the following effect:

"Gentlemen,

"By this letter, I think, we ſhall be able to judge with more preciſion than hitherto, as the matter ſeems now to be reduced more to a point; however, as the Directors have only received this letter a few hours ago, and conſequently had not time ſufficiently to deliberate on it, I think it a matter of ſuch conſequence, that this court ſhould be adjourned to a further day for the examination of it."

Mr. Sullivan then roſe, and aſked permiſſion to offer a few ſentiments on this ſubject: "He agreed with Sir George Colebrooke, he ſaid, for the further adjournment of this court, as the ſubject was of ſuch importance. In regard to giving power to a naval Officer of the Crown, as alluded to in Lord Weymouth's letter, he obſerved it was a point which the conſequence of the Eaſt-India Company muſt be materially affected, and therefore he hoped that every Proprietor would (from this time to the time appointed for the further enquiry into this matter) often turn it in his mind, conſult the charters and privileges of this Company, that in their conceſſions to Government nothing that could hurt them ſhould be given up:---He concluded by ſaying, he thought it his duty thus to deliver his ſentiments, as he looked upon it there never was a time when the honour of the Company was in a more critical ſituation."

Many Gentlemen ſpoke on the ſubject, and threw out various obſervations, however, they were all unanimous that the determination of theſe points alluded to in the Secretary of State's letter, was a matter that required an adjournment to a further day, for the benefit of informing themſelves more fully on the ſubject.

The ſpeakers on this occaſion were Sir George Colebrooke, Bart. Sir James Hodges, Mr. Dempſter, Governor Johnſtone, Mr. M'Intoſh, Mr. Stewart, Mr. Fitzgerald,

A letter from Warſaw, dated July 26, ſays, "Poliſh Pruſſia is filled with the Confederates of Great Poland, Cujavia, and Dobryzn, who uſe their utmoſt endeavours to excite the Nobility to join them: in the mean time they impoſe heavy contributions."

A letter from Mantua, dated July 19, ſays, "General Paoli arrived here yeſterday with M. Saliceti, and was preſented to his Majeſty, the Emperor of Germany, who gave him a very obliging reception, and permitted him to be at the Aſſembly in the evening. Paoli is entertained at Court, and will continue ſome days in this country."

Extract of a Letter from Paris, dated July 31.

In the arguments lately advanced by the Abbe Morelet to prove the neceſſity of aboliſhing the Eaſt India Company, among others are the following reflections. 'According to the preſent State of Europe, there can be no certainty of a long peace. Now, in caſe of a rupture between the powers, can we flatter ourſelves that the company will be in a condition to ſupport its ſettlements in India. Is there one prudent Stockholder that can think ſo, or an honeſt one that can ſay ſo? What hopes can be given to the Stockholders that there are more to their advantage than what they might have formed with reſpect to their ſituation before the laſt war? The Eaſt-Indies then offered to the Company every advantage in point of trade. Chandernagor and Pondicherry were ſtrong places. Now Chandernagor is an open place, and Pondicherry has only a few buildings erected upon the ruins of the old ones. I know very well that the Engliſh themſelves cannot place any great confidence in the ſtability of their ſituation in India; it is not in the nature of things, it is an unnatural ſituation, and cannot laſt, ſooner or later the numerous inhabitants of India will riſe againſt the traders whoſe aim is to enſlave them. A handful of Europeans can never reſiſt the immenſe numbers that will pour down upon them from all parts. The Indians are daily improving in the art of war, even from the Europeans themſelves, who have many of them in their ſervice. It is more than probable that they will one day or other, ſhake off the yoke; but let what will be the conſequence, we can get nothing by theſe commotions; or which is the ſame thing to a wiſe Government, we are not ſure to get by them. If we are wiſe we ſhall only act there as traders, and in that capacity we have no occaſion to make war; or if we are under a neceſſity to go to war to ſupport this trade, it is a demonſtrative proof that we ought not to carry it on.'

A Letter from Paris, dated Auguſt 7, mentions, that the Seraſkier, three days after the affair with the Ruſſians, on the 13th, having been joined by a large body of Janiſſaries from the Grand Viſier's army, under Pacha Amurath, a popular leader among the Turks, fell upon the Imperial army, and, after an obſtinate reſiſtance, put their van-guard to the route, and drove great numbers of them into the Nieſter, which they repaſſed with the utmoſt peſepitation. The Ruſſian General, Prince Proſorowſki, is ſaid to have been dangerouſly wounded in the above action.

By accounts from Verſailles, we hear that an Engliſh Gentleman has lately been taken into cuſtody there for defrauding a French Nobleman of a conſiderable ſum of money, at the game of Hazard. The dice were cut open on the ſpot, and found to be loaded. It is ſaid the offender will be ſent to the galleys.

AUGUST 17. Yeſterday the Right Hon. General Conway ſet out for Scotland, and from thence is to go to Ireland, it is ſaid that he has got a commiſſion to inſpect into the ſtate of the forts and garriſons of both theſe kingdoms.

A letter from Deal ſays, that in the Horſenden Eaſt Indiaman, Captain Jameſon, lately arrived from the Eaſt Indies, is a Chineſe, a man of wealth and conſideration among his countrymen. He obtained leave of the Chineſe government (which is very ſtrict with regard to the emigration of the ſubject) to go to Batavia; inſtead of which he took paſſage for Great Britain. Curioſity and reſpect for the Britiſh nation, induced him to viſit this iſland. He is a middle aged man, of a proper ſtature; his face and hands of a copperiſh colour; is elegantly cloathed in ſilk robes, after the faſhion of his country; ſpeaks the Lingua Franca, mixed with broken Engliſh; is very ſenſible, and a great obſerver. He is remarkably ingenious in forming ſmall buſts with a ſort of China earth, many of which carry a ſtriking likeneſs of the perſon they are deſigned to repreſent. He ſteals a likeneſs, and forms the buſts from his memory.

The above ſhip ſailed from St. Helena to England in ſeven weeks, which was the quickeſt paſſage ever known: and on Friday ſhe ſailed from the Downs, with the India Pilot, for the river.

Thurſday evening a poor man aſked charity of a benevolent Gentleman in the fields leading to White Conduit-houſe; the Gentleman obſerving that he had not the appearance of a common beggar, humanely gave him a ſhilling, a ſum ſo much above his expectation, that he dropt down dead in a tranſport of ſpeechleſs rapture.

The Rev. Mr. Whitefield hath taken his paſſage in the Friendſhip, Capt. Ball, bound to Charles-Town, South-Carolina, which will ſail ſome time this month.

AUGUST 18. Wedneſday afternoon a great lawyer had the honour of a long conference with his Majeſty at Richmond.

The inſtallation of the Knights of the Garter, that was to be next month at Windſor, is poſtponed to next Spring.

The woman, who had the honour of a late interview with a great Admiral at Portſmouth, has within theſe few days been introduced to another great perſonage, and it is ſaid will be provided for.

It is ſaid, that this week the Daniſh and Ruſſian Ambaſſadors have held ſeveral conferences together, on the ſubject of ſome important diſpatches received from their reſpective Courts.

By a gentleman juſt arrived in town from France, we are informed, that the French have actually at this time, no leſs than twenty ſhips of the line, beſides frigates, and two bomb veſſels, in the ſeveral wet docks, and harbour of Breſt, which have undergone a thorough repair this ſummer, and can be got ready for ſea, on an emergency, at a month's notice.

A Petition from the City of Weſtminſter was read on Wedneſday night at the Globe Tavern in the Strand, and unanimouſly agreed to.

By Letters from Bridgewater we learn, that at the meeting at the races for the ſaid town, Mr. Coxe, Member for the County, by requeſt of the Sheriff, took the ſenſe of the Gentlemen then preſent, with regard to petitioning, who were all unanimous for a Petition, and the Sheriff is to advertiſe a County Meeting for that purpoſe.

Wedneſday at 11 o'clock, the ballot for the following queſtion began at the Eaſt India Houſe in Leadenhall-ſtreet, agreeable to an adjournment for that purpoſe.

"That it is the opinion of this Court, that the balance unpaid to the claimants on the reſtitution fund, be paid in Bengal, ſo ſoon as the ſtate of the Company's treaſury will admit."

At ſix o'clock the balloting was cloſed, and an hour being taken up in adjuſting the numbers, the Court met preciſely at ſeven o'clock, Sir George Colebrooke in the chair, who reported to the Proprietors the following ſtate of the ballot.

For the queſtion	239
Againſt it	145
In favour of the Claimants	94

Upon this report being made, Mr. Luſhington got up, and addreſſed the Court in ſubſtance as follows.

Gentlemen,

"As a principal claimant in this affair, I ſhould think myſelf "wanting in duty, if I did not congratulate you upon the ſucceſs of "this queſtion, as well as acknowledge my obligations to my friends, "who have ſupported me on this occaſion."

The Chairman then aſked, whether it was the pleaſure of the Court that they ſhould adjourn, which being univerſally aſſented to, the Court was accordingly adjourned.

A letter from Rome, dated July 22, ſays, "It is reported that the accommodations between the Holy See and the Courts of Bourbon is nearly concluded; even the preliminaries of this accommodation are [illegible] certain however, that nothing is not abſolutely agreed on, but that the proceedings for that purpoſe will be carried on with an attention proper for terminating all differences in ſuch a manner that they may no more return; which, without doubt, requires time and application."

A letter from Baſſa, dated July 14, ſays, "The exaggeration of the loſs of lives in this iſland by battle has been very great, for it now appears, that from May 5 to July 15, there were loſt only from 7 to 800 men on both ſides."

They write from Marſeillet, that the naval commanders both there, at Toulon, and other French ports, have had orders to give all poſſible encouragement to Corſican ſeamen to enter into the French ſervice.

By letters directly from Senegal, we are informed, that Captain O'Hara, of the Merlin ſloop, and brother to the Governor, having been ſent down to Arguin in the territories of the Emperor of Morocco, on a treaty, and going on ſhore with ſeven of the crew, they were ſurpriſed by a party of Moors, who murdered them all in cool blood.

The laſt letters from Conſtantinople mention the government had juſt given orders for fitting out eleven ſail of line of battle ſhips, with all expedition, for immediate ſervice.

AUGUST 22. Yeſterday morning ſome diſpatches arrived in town from his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, which were immediately carried to the Secretary of State's Office.

Saturday Evening, at a Coffee-houſe in Cornhill, a Gentleman gave one hundred guineas to a Jew Merchant to receive twenty ſhillings a day, till news arrives that Madraſs is taken by Hyder Ally. The money is to be paid to Chriſtmas 1770, if the above incident does not happen.

Yeſterday ------Mawbey, Eſq; brother to Sir Joſeph Mawbey, Bart. Member for the Borough of Southwark, attended at Bear-Key, with the Surry Petition, when ſeveral Gentlemen ſigned it: We are informed that 1800 Freeholders have already ſigned the ſaid Petition.

Letters from Leghorn mention, that notwithſtanding the French take every method in their power to reconcile the Corſicans to their Government, continual attempts are made in the night, by the natives, to murder ſuch of the officers and ſoldiers as fall into their hands.

By a calculation handed about at Paris, the inhabitants of Corſica are ſaid to amount to about 170,000 ſouls, which are 50,000 leſs than Mr. Boſwell imagines them to be. In 1729, there were 40,000 families in that iſland that paid taxes to their imperious maſters the State of Genoa, and allowing five perſons to each family, the inhabitants then amounted to 200,000.

Letters from Paris mention, that the celebrated Mr. de Poinſinet, author of the Opera of Tom Jones, (from whence Mr. Reed has borrowed an Engliſh piece with the ſame title) and ſeveral other ingenious dramatic performances, was unfortunately drowned croſſing the river Guadalquiver, as he was proceeding on his journey to Spain.

Letters from Gibraltar mention, that the Spaniſh lines near that fortreſs had lately been re-inforced, as alſo the garriſons of Malaga, St. Roach, &c. by detachments from Grenada, and other places, which were thought to be matters of ſo much concern, as to tranſmit the ſame over to Court.

Laſt week orders were ſent to Ireland for ſhipping ſeveral hundred tons of proviſions at Cork and Dublin, for the uſe of his Majeſty's garriſons at Minorca and Gibraltar.

ALL perſons indebted to the eſtate of GEORGE SEAMAN, deceaſed, are hereby requeſted to pay off their reſpective debts immediately; and thoſe to whom the ſaid eſtate may be indebted, are deſired to give in their accounts properly atteſted, that we may be enabled to cloſe the affairs thereof, as ſpeedily as poſſible.
